VATE Online Networks – Terms and conditions

You must be a current individual or organisational member of VATE to be subscribed to the VATE Online Networks (VCE English, VCE EAL, VCE English Language, VCE Literature, VM Literacy, Middle Years).

The VATE Online Networks support the teaching and learning of English. It is for educators only – this is important as members often share resources that are used in school assessment tasks. The Online Networks are a vibrant and collegial space – members are very generous in sharing advice, ideas, activities, texts, and assessment tasks. For privacy reasons, the sharing of students' work on the Networks is not permitted.

As with all online discussions, it is also expected that everyone communicates in a professional and considerate manner. We are a large, diverse group of teachers, writers, publishers, assessors, and tutors, with varying levels of teaching experience. We respect everyone's need to minimise email traffic, so if your message doesn't need to go to the whole group, please communicate directly with the individual, especially to express your gratitude. It's helpful if you include your contact details, especially your email, in the body of the email if you wish to be contacted directly.

The promotion of products and services, by commercial or other external providers, is prohibited. All requests for research must adhere to the VATE Research Requests Policy – do not post these requests to the Network until you have received permission from the VATE Council.

All subscribers to VATE's Online Networks agree to abide by Australian and International Copyright laws which define and protect the copyright of all content created. It is the responsibility of all Online Network users to check and verify the ownership of material and the terms and conditions of use before sharing to the VATE Online Networks. Any copyright-protected material freely or commercially available should never be distributed via the Online Networks. The circulation of copyrighted material will be a breach of copyright law.

If you have any queries or concerns about posting to any of the Networks, please contact education@vate.org.au.

Subscription to VATE's Online Networks is considered acceptance of these terms and conditions. Contravening these terms and conditions will lead to a period of suspension from VATE's Online Networks or permanent exclusion.
